

HOUSE PERMEATED WITH HYPNOTISM

Mrs. Ole Bull Had Furniture Rubbed With Ammonia and Olive Oil to Take it Off

GUEST HYPNOTIZED A LEAD PENCIL

Also Played Piano and Painted Pictures by Psychic Power—Birthday Celebrated With Meditation Amid Burning Incense—Customs of the Raja Yogi Cult Described in Court Incident to Will Contest.

Alford, Me., May 23.—Ammonia and olive oil rubbed on furniture to "take off the hypnotism," was a practice described by Mrs. Ole Bull, a former teacher and a student of Mrs. Ole Bull, widow of the famous violinist, in today's session of the York county probate court on the petition of Olea Bull Vaughn to break her mother's will.

Work Done in Cambridge Studio.
The work was done at Mrs. Bull's request in the studio house at Cambridge, Mass., in 1908, and another effort to rid the house of the improper influences left behind by a member of the Hindu cult, of which Mrs. Bull was a member, was described by the ex-husband as follows:

Procession Through Apartments.
A procession marched through the apartments carrying incense and burning incense, these processions being held at fifteen-minute intervals, so that the traces of the "incense" of the number who had used her power for material purpose rather than for healing, might be left.

Played Piano by Psychic Power.
Using her psychic power to play the piano and to paint pictures was one of the practices that Mrs. Bull, one of the cult, adopted against the disapproval of Mrs. Bull and others.

Hypnotized a Lead Pencil.
One of the letters read by Robert told of Mrs. Bull having hypnotized a lead pencil and laid it beside Robert's place at the table. Robert, however, refused to have anything to do with the "incense" of the cult, or to allow himself to be influenced by Mrs. Bull.

Restored to Health by Psychic Powers.
Witness then told of conferences with Prof. William James of Boston Dr. Cowles, Dr. Willis and other regarding the condition of Mrs. Bull. J. Farmer, who was receiving psychic treatment for her illness. Mrs. Farmer recovered, and Mrs. Bull declared that she believed recovery was due to the psychic powers of the witness.
